BULLETIN OF THE MONTH

Food is more than just something to eat
Home and Garden Bulletin No. 216

A nutrition guidebook for consumers which was originally prepared by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare in cooperation with the Grocery Manufactures of America and the Advertising Council. This booklet contains the major nutrients and where to find them, nutrients and energy, food for all ages, nutritional labeling, a daily food guide, the value of processed foods, and tells the many ways of eating.

NOTE: Single copies of publications other than those listed FOR SALE ONLY may be obtained free as long as the supply permits from the Office of Communication, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Prices are given for the convenience of persons desiring to purchase these publications in quantities and for those who make frequent purchases of government publications. Remittances should be sent to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, except as otherwise noted.

FARMERS' BULLETINS

Inspecting and cleaning subsurface drain systems.
(F 2258) 16 p. 35¢.

This slight revision describes recently developed methods for cleaning subsurface drains, making it possible to clean extensive drain systems effectively, rapidly, and economically. These methods will allow a farmer to clean his drains many times if necessary, rather than install a new system. The main points discussed are causes of drain failures, inspection, excavation, and methods of cleaning drain systems.

HOME AND GARDEN BULLETINS

Removing stains from fabrics. (G 62) 26 p. 40¢.

This revised publication contains instructions for removing most stains at home. It tells what to do immediately when a stain occurs and what follow-up steps to take. Most stains are classified into nine groups. Separate procedures for treating stains in the nine groups as well as for stains that do not fall into the nine groups are given. There is also a method given for treating unknown stains.

Growing chrysanthemums in the home garden. (G 65) 8 p. 35¢.

This revised bulletin tells how chrysanthemums can bring a variety of bold colors to your garden from mid-July until killing frost. Flowers may be shades of yellow, orange, red, purple, bronse, pink, or white. They range in form and size from clusters of small, round pompons to individual 4-inch decoratives. The plants are easy to grow and can be grown throughout the United States.

How to buy lawn seed. (G 169) Folder. 35¢.

This slightly revised bulletin gives factors to consider before buying lawn seed, and a brief description of the most frequently used lawn seeds. It also tells the reader things to look for on labels of lawnseed packages. Labels should identify kinds of seed in a mixture, state the percentage of the seed variety, percentage of seed expected to produce normal plants, and percentage of weed seed.

Your money's worth in foods. (G 183) 28 p. 60¢.
This revised bulletin provides the homemaker with basic information essential to planning and purchasing food for good nutrition. It tells how to plan well-balanced meals within various food budgets and suggests reasonable amounts to spend for food. The bulletin also provides meal planning guides, food shopping tips, and tools for comparing costs of food.

Food is more than just something to eat. (G 216) 28 p. 80¢.
See Bulletin of the Month.

LEAFLETS

The old house borer. (L 501) 6 p. 35¢.
The old house borer can cause severe damage to buildings in the Eastern United States. This revised leaflet describes the different stages the insect passes through during its life, physical characteristics of the insect, where it lays its eggs, how much damage it can cause, and measures that can be taken to control infestation.

Rhubarb production. (L 555) 8 p. 35¢.
This slightly revised leaflet describes soils, method of planting, varieties, and cultivation of rhubarb produced outdoors, and the forcing of rhubarb grown in the winter. It discusses field production, structures, crowns for the forcing house, temperatures, and harvesting in connection with indoor production. It also examines briefly the adaptation of principles of indoor production to production of a few plants in the home.

Coaching on the job. 1964. 25 min, 16mm film, optical sd, col.

Approximately 80 percent of Forest Service training is done on the job. This film explains the importance of this training in typical on-the-job sequences filmed in the field.

Direct seeding of Southern pine. 1965. 20 min. 16mm film, optic l sd, col.

The research leading to the successful direct seeding of Southern timberlands is fascinating. At first, birds and rodents ate the seeds, methods of seeding were crude, but important breakthroughs in research solved these problems.

Forest in a museum. 1962. 11 min. 16mm film, optical sd, col.

Features the 1¼-acre 'Beaver National Forest' Exposition Ranch Museum in New Mexico. Tells the story of multiple use through small-scale models of animals, people, and fire tower, with real trees, grass and water. Living animals and birds on exhibit at the Museum are shown also.

Islands of green. 1965. 24 min. 16mm film, optical sd, col.

Sixty years ago, conservationists set aside the National Forests as large islands of green for the American people. Today, increasing pressure for outdoor recreation and conservation education have created a need for small islands of green near urban communities. The National Audubon Society is prepared to assist any community in a plan for a nature conservation center.
